25,500.00 worth of general merchandise to be sold at once. These goods were bought right and we propose to sell them right. Merchants will do well to buy this and not force us to retail.
HENRY TWYFOLD.
W. L. CARMICHAEL, Managers.

Joe and Monroe Carson, who were wanted in Asheville for an assault on Tom Bishop, a member of the city street force at Asheville, were recognized at Flat Rock postoffice on last Thursday evening and arrested. They were taken to Asheville on Friday to answer the charge brought against them.

The choral society held a most delightful meeting on last Monday night in the hall over Brooks & Williams's store. The attendance was good and a fine start was made. We be-speak good things for this organization. The citizens of the town will soon be permitted to know more of the society and its purposes in the near future.

BENTHER DOUBLE.
"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg Pa, "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get. I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at the Justus drug store; price 50c.

Another Mineral Spring.

"Millionaire Households" is the title of one of the best selling books of the winter. Full instructions for maintaining in proper and becoming fashion a millionaire household abound on every page and are eagerly read by stenographers and salesgirls on their way to work.

Representative Merrell has introduced a bill for the re-establishment of the army canteen. This matter is one not of prohibition but of temperance and should be regulated by common sense and not by sentiment merely.

A newspaper writer interested in the welfare of us all declares that the ordinary siphon is potentially more dangerous than the bomb which killed von Phlebe. The Kentucky way of taking it straight may be the safest after all.

Pace—Hawkins.

The marriage of Miss Luia May Pace and Mr. A. Homer Hawkins early last Sunday morning was a surprise to many of our people. Rev. R. B. Grinnan, of the Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. There were about twenty invited guests present. The marriage took place very early in the morning—between six and seven o'clock—and an elegant wedding breakfast was served, after which the bride and groom left for Gaffney, S. C., and other points in that state.

This young couple have many friends in this city who wish for them a life of perfect bliss.

THE HUSTLER extends the hand of congratulation and dedicates the following lines to the memory of the occasion:
On January first, 1905
Just at the dawn of day,
These young people betrothed their lives
And went rejoicing on their way.

Before them lies a future bright with hope
As they now anticipate flowery bowers
In mind and body they can easily cope
With those of maturer mental powers.

As they launch out upon life's sea,
Freighted with the best of wishes,
May their faces always be
Confronted with full China dishes.

As they to their pantry daily go
May they behold pudding and pies,
May the rats never from their flour
barrell go
With sobbing, and burning tears in their eyes.

THE PLUMBER.
As through this busy world we grope,
Following our vocation,
We're thrown in contact with the rich
And poor of every station,
From the finest mansions in the land
Down to the lowest dive,
We're among them all, both great and small,
And to please them all we strive.

Some people think the plumber's lot
Is a very easy one,
But if they had our task awhile,
They'd find it wasn't so.
When into it they'd have to delve,
And filthy closets clean
They'd hardly think it very nice
But very, very mean.

Today we're in the mansion
Of the richest in the land,
Where everything is neat and clean
And all around is grand,
From cellar to the attic
Through marble halls we roam,
Stealing along like burglars
We make ourselves at home.

The wealthy people know us,
And for us have no fear,
They know that we are honest
And our name to us is dear,
Though chances we have many
To steal, we never think
Excepting that we do sometimes
Appropriate a drink.

Next you'll find us in the business block
Where everything is bustle,
Crawling through the smallest holes
That sometimes make us hustle,
Moping round through darkest cellar
Filled with every kind of stuff
Climbing over barrels and boxes
Till we're often sore enough.

Hunting leaks of gas and water
Is not always very funny
For we get into some places
Where we surely earn our money,
But then we never grumble,
For the work it must be done
So at it with a will we go
As though that it were fun.

Then you'll find us in the house
Where all is naught but gloom,
Poverty and misery
And dreary as a tomb,
Here is seen life's darkest side,
Where to live is but to dread,
Where fondest hopes once cherished
Have faded and are dead.
J. W. MCINTYRE,
Hendersonville, Jan. 3, '05.

"St. Louis" we read, "Is now bending all her energies to secure a population of 1,000,000." President Roosevelt must have dropped some race suicide pamphlets around while he was at the Exposition.

The first three weeks of the short session of Congress have been busy ones. It is likely there will be no more talk of an extra session next Spring. Impeachment proceedings against a Federal Judge have been inaugurated. It is demonstrated that the Republicans will in all probability not revise the tariff. Two appropriation bills were passed by the house and one by the Senate and a House Phillipine bill passed the Senate.
